The Jet
. . . 1970

Volume XVIII

An End to One Decade — a Beginning of the New

An End and . . .

A Beginning -

An End to High School Years - a Beginning of Adulthood

MRS. ALICE TOTTEN

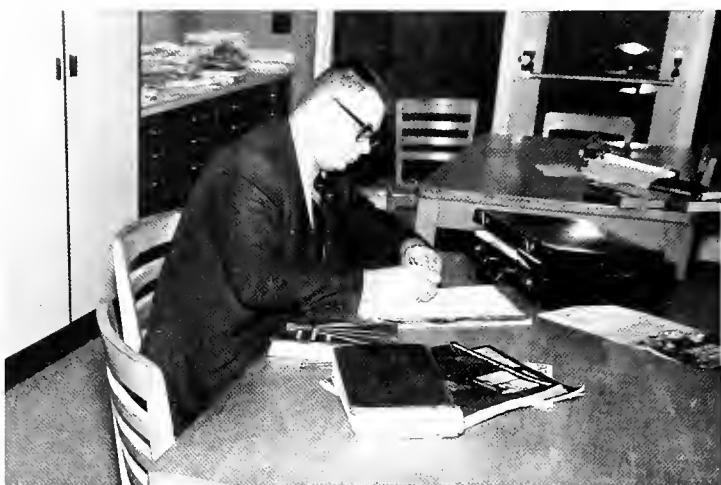

Within the days of his high school years, each student searches for a direction in life. It is in this confusing time of self searching that most students appreciate any concern shown by an older and wiser person. It is due to the wisdom she has shared, the interest shown, and the hours of dedication to the students of North-eastern High School that we fondly dedicate this, the 1970 Jet, to Mrs. Alice Totten.

Mrs. Totten Is Always Eager to Offer Her Help.

Your 1970 Jet Staff

MR. BARBER, Advisor

Annual Staff gets by "with a little help from our friends."

Wishes — to thank everyone who has made this 1970 edition of the JET possible. We especially would like to thank Mr. Price for his support and frequent "pep" talks. In addition, we are grateful to Mr. Chamberlin for his help in photography, Mrs. Bean for her cheerful encouragement and help in preparing the final pages, Mr. Kranz for his donation of Vo-Ag photos, and Mr. Overman for his exertions on our behalf.

Jennifer "Vesuvius" Laird and Barb "Old Faithful" Agle work frantically to beat the last deadline.

Left: Despite frequent "clashes of arms" most of our differences were peacefully ironed out.

The 1969-70 school year marked the debut of the Instructional Materials Center, commonly known as the IMC. This new addition was a great benefit to the entire student body of N.E.H.S. There were many hours of serious study as well as many hours of relaxation, and fun!

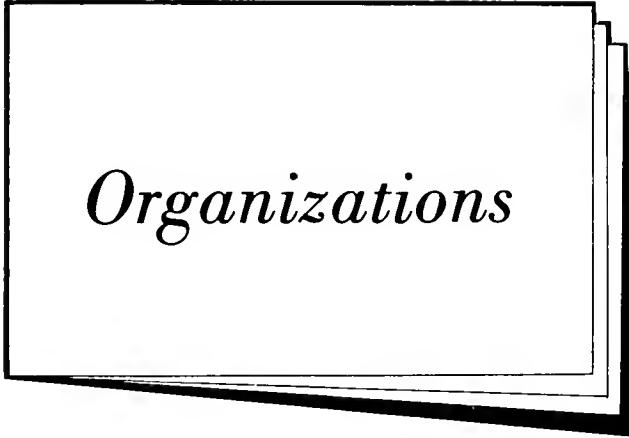

Students study hard while Mrs. Bean is on "Rat Patrol."

Hey boy, better watch those capricious stunts. Chair-tipping is against the rules.

It has been a long day of studying diligently.

Our Man

Troy Tournament

The Northeastern basketball team won their first tournament game, making a Northeastern High School first. The Jet team conquered Milton Union, Springfield South High, and Troy High Schools before they fell to the Fairborn Flyers. This poem expresses the school's feelings about the tournament victories.

ODE TO THE JETS

We had all heard that old cliché
"Heartbreak Trail begins today."

We hadn't known just what it meant
Till the Troy District cage event.

A dozen players; one good boss,
In jest the players called him, "Hoss."

Yet, they each knew what it meant to fail;
They had not won the M.R.V.L.

They'd had their samplings of defeat,
They'd played to jeers from enemy seats.

A dozen players, a man named Hoas,
It would end for them with but one loss.

They started down that tortuous way,
Five crucial games, to win they'd play.

The first and second foes did fall,
Then mighty Troy loomed so tall.

The Trojans strove then met their fate,
Their fall determining our next date.

The Fairborn Flyers opposed the Jets,
The odds were even on all bets.

The game was close, the win in sight,
The struggle dear, we lost our might.

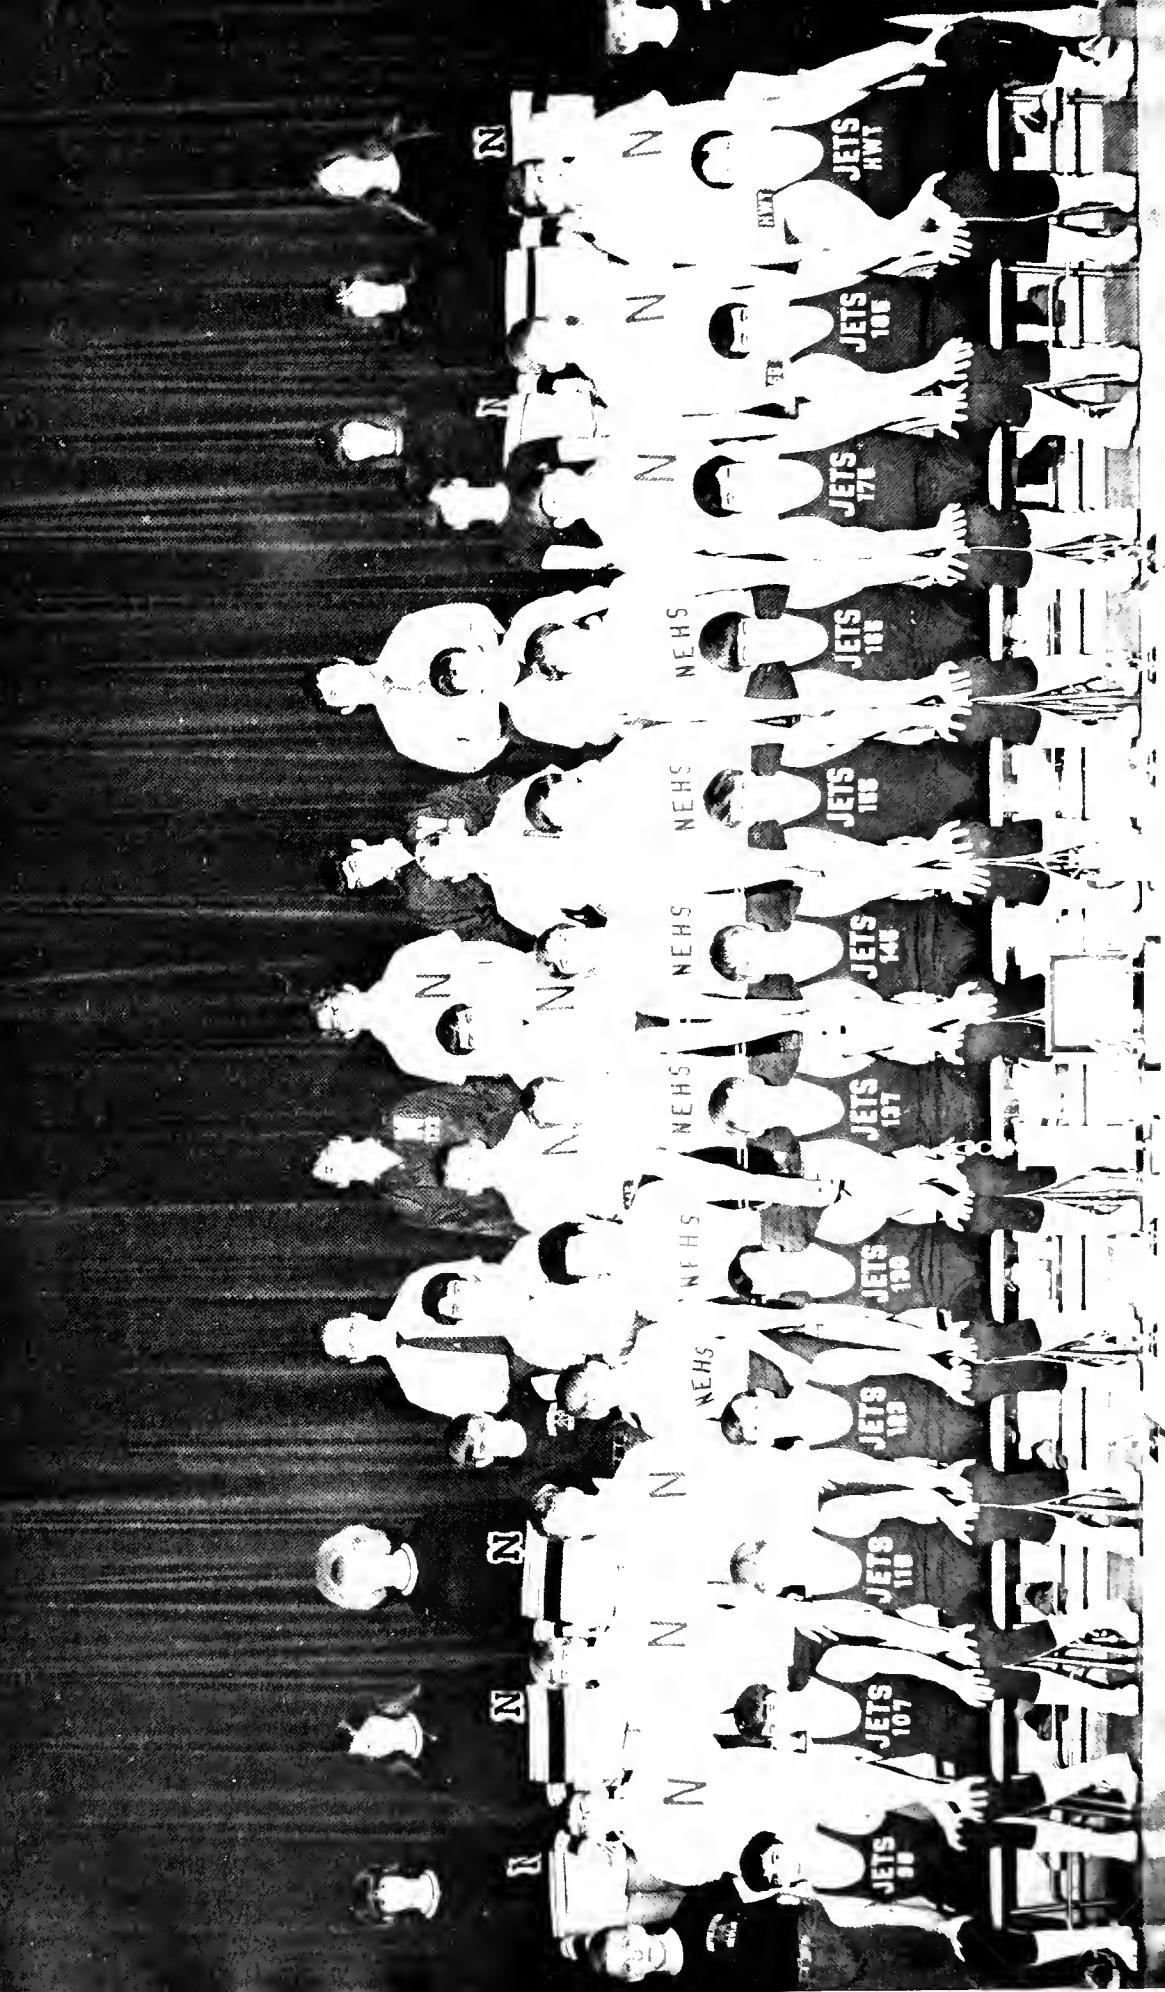

We lost our poise, we lost our style,
We didn't score for quite some while.

And soon we sensed the end was near,
Yet we approached it without fear.

We had shown that when you're right,
And when you aren't afraid to fight,

Huge barriers can be overcome;
That in losing right, we'd really won.
